

ROCKY ANDERSON LUIS RODRIGUEZ

Rocky Anderson was a trial lawyer for 21 years, two-term Mayor of Salt Lake City, and founder of High Road for Human Rights. His remarkable record includes:

- Successfully challenging corporate and governmental abuses, including strip searches of women, abuses of incarcerated men and women (including mentally ill inmates), antitrust violations, and harm inflicted by financial institutions.
- Challenging U.S. violence in Central America; debating the Contra commander-in-chief; organizing truth-finding trips to Nicaragua; working for GLBT rights, including marriage equality; providing protections against discrimination and equal benefits for city employees.
- Reducing greenhouse gas emissions by 31% in city operations; presenting at side meetings of three UN Climate Change Conferences; educating business and governmental leaders in several nations about climate protection.
- Implementing a city-wide restorative justice program and advocating for an end to the “war on drugs”.
- Fighting against the invasion and occupation of Iraq and related human rights abuses; testifying at a congressional hearing on executive branch abuses of power; uncompromisingly advocating against Obama’s violations of civil and human rights.
- Served as member of Boards of ACLU of Utah (President and pro bono lawyer); Guadalupe Educational Programs (President); Planned Parenthood Association of Utah (Chair, Public Education); Citizens for Penal Reform (Founder and President); Common Cause of Utah. Served on Newsweek Global Environmental Leadership Advisory Board.
