

Man Challenges Lawsuit Fee Requirement After Police Kill Dog

A man who filed a lawsuit seeking $2 million after Salt Lake City police shot and killed his dog has challenged two laws requiring extra fees when suing a law-enforcement officer.

April 18, 2017, at 5:26 p.m.

f \(https://w

...

AP

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A man who filed a lawsuit seeking $2 million after Salt Lake City police shot and killed his dog has challenged two laws requiring extra fees before suing a law-enforcement officer.

The Salt Lake Tribune (<http://bit.ly/2pOSx8d>) reports that on Monday dog owner Sean Kendall's attorney argued that the laws violate due process and equal protection rights.

Before suing law-enforcement officers, people are required to post a bond to cover the officer's attorney fees and court costs and pay at least $300 for an "undertaking." The laws are meant to protect officers from unwarranted lawsuits.

Earlier this year, a judge ruled against Kendall's $2 million lawsuit, saying he didn't establish either an unconstitutional search or seizure in the 2014 shooting of his 90-pound dog in his backyard. He has appealed the ruling.

---

Information from: The Salt Lake Tribune, <http://www.sltrib.com>

Copyright 2017 The Associated Press (<http://www.ap.org>). All rights reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed.

Tags: Utah \(https://www.usnews.com/topics/locations/utah\)